

I am writing from the state of Indiana where we have a successful "Do Not Call" Law. This law has made a big difference in our family time at home and we do not want to see it weakened. Please do not tamper with this state's ability to regulate these annoying calls as tough laws and penalties in this area is the only thing that will stop this practice. It would be nice if we had federal law makers taking a stand to be even tougher than our own state lawmakers, this is a serious problem that affects every household.
